

SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAMME 2018

FACULTY	SUBJECT	INFORMATION
COMMERCE	Accounting	Starting Term 2 on Monday lunchtimes.
	Economics	Starting Term 2. Fortnightly tutorials on Monday morning
ENGLISH	English	It is key to the English Department's philosophy regarding literature and literacy that our scholarship programme is essentially a 7 year process, which focusses on the study and appreciation of literature. This starts in the junior classes with courses designed to support this. We also have structured, guided reading linked to our library periods. At Years 10 and 11 we offer fortnightly book clubs as an extension to classroom literature studies. Students read a common novel, and their discussions explore narrative devices, author's purpose, writing style... These groups lead, in turn, to the Scholars' Book Club for Year 12 and 13 that, again, meets fortnightly, continuing to amass wider reading experiences. With this as its basis, students who enrol for the scholarship examination then learn literary theory, examination technique, and engage in lively, analytical discussions, which promote the original critical responses vital to NCEA Level 4 success.

	Media Studies	Fortnightly tutorials start in Term 2. Further preparation for the exam will begin in Term 3, which will involve a deeper study of media concepts and personal viewing and reading for each student. My scholarship tutorials run every Thursday after school from 3.20 to 4.00 (ish).
	Music	Music Scholarship 2017 Students will choose between Performance/Composition/Research to complete their portfolio throughout the year in class. The portfolio will include appropriate submission of performance/composition/research works as well as their reflection on the work they have submitted. These portfolios will be used for their internals, which they will be working on, closely monitored by the teacher in charge throughout the year. There will also be an external exam to test their music history and knowledge, and tutorials will be organized at the end of term 3, continued through term 4.
PE	Physical Education	TIC is Mrs Aitken. Students complete internal assessments on topics during the year which form a foundation for answering scholarship questions. Scholarship format is an essay, based on student research topics. Students are encouraged to attend PENZ workshops after school on dates in Terms 1- 3.
